Hiking in the Hot Springs Area Mountain Magnolia

Hiking in the Hot Springs Area. Hot Springs is surrounded by the Pisgah National Forest and the Appalachian Trail goes right through town on Bridge Street. Our property is 20 yards from the Appalachian Trail trailhead in tow. There are numerous beautiful places to hike in and around Hot Springs. The walks are of varying lengths and levels of difficulty and represent some the best hiking in the mountains of North Carolina.

The Reykjadalur Hot Spring Hike on Your Own Travelade

You'll see a ton of hot springs (way hotter than the one you'll bathe in) and a beautiful waterfall called Djúpagilsfoss. If you are hiking in the summertime, you'll probably meet some sheep along the way. I advise you to follow the path while you're hiking, the hot springs along the way are boiling hot.

Hiking Trails Hot Springs National Park (U.S. National ...

Walking paths have long been a part of Hot Springs National Park and the preceding Hot Springs Reservation. Many informal paths criss crossed the mountains when Hot Springs Reservation was reclaimed by the federal government in 1878; however, formal trails were not laid out for several years. In the early to mid 1890's, Captain Robert Stevens laid out many of the trails on Hot Springs Mountain. Most trails were built during the 1920's with some improvements completed by the CCC in 1933.
